TROTTER SEIZED IN COLORADO FOR DESERTING WIFE

WAIVES EXTRADITION

Man Who Sawed Jail Bars
Will Return Quietly to McAlester.

(By the Associated Press)
McALESTER, Oct. 30.—J. C. Trotter, former minister of the Methodist church south at Haileyville, and financial secretary of the Brooks Institute at Hartsboro, who escaped from the Pittsburg county jail in September while awaiting trial on the charge of embezzlement of church funds and hospital funds, has been captured at Alamosa, Colo. He was working there as a railroad strike breaker, under the name of Oscar Kinser.

Trotter was also to have been tried in court here on wife desertion charges, he having sent his wife and children to Chattanooga, Tenn., at the time discrepancies in his accounts were discovered. After placing his family on the train, the minister is alleged to have hastened to Eufaula where, in company with Miss Audrey Campbell, head nurse of the Brooks Institute, he was arrested. The pair denied elopement but declared their love for each other would not be shaken by charges against them, but that they intended to marry when Rev. Trotter could divorce his present wife.

$1,600 Shortage Charged
A shortage of $1,600 in the account was charged against Trotter. Miss Campbell was also charged with irregularities but after a thorough investigation she was dismissed from custody. Rev. Trotter learned that his wife was enroute to McAlester to press desertion charges and he told fellow prisoners before filing his way through the jail bars one Sunday night that he was fleeing from justice as he feared to face Mrs. Trotter.

An officers from McAlester will probably leave some time today for Colorado to bring back Rev. J. C. Trotter. An information from John Vaumaster, sheriff of Alamosa county, Colorado, stated that Trotter confessed his identity on arrest and promised to waive requisition papers to return to McAlester.

DECLARES HE'S GOAT OF HAILEYVILLE PLOT

(By the Associated Press)
ALAMOSA, Col., Oct. 30.—Garbed in overalls and working as a day laborer, Rev. J. C. Trotter, former pastor of the Haileyville Methodist church, Haileyville, Okla., was arrested today on a charge of embezzling church funds. The pastor, who escaped from the McAlester jail while awaiting trial, admitted that "others were implicated" in the case and said he was going to "spring a sensation" when he returned to Haileyville. "Some prominent and influential men of Haileyville and Hartsboro know as much as I about this case," he said. "They are simply trying to make me the goat."

Trotter worked here under the name of Oscar Kinser. Sheriff Beaumaster, who made the arrest, said he would hold the pastor in custody pending the arrival of officers from Haileyville. Mr. Trotter said he would ask no extradition proceedings.

Railways to Seek Amalgamation for 16 Principal Lines

(By the Associated Press)
ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 30.—A national conference of railroad men to "devise ways and means" of effecting an amalgamation of the sixteen standard railroad organizations will be held in Chicago December 9 and 10, C. H. Wanger, of St. Paul, secretary-treasurer of the national committee on amalgamation, announced today.

The call which will go to about 11,000 local lodges, will be sent out late this week, according to Mr. Wanger. Each local union or local and system federation is entitled to two delegates.

Carbon may be melted and maintained in a liquid condition, according to the experiments of a French investigator.

Fascisti Leader Forces Italy To Select a New State Chief

Benito Mussolini

The resignation of the Italian cabinet headed by Premier Facta, forced by the Fascisti through their opposition to the cabinet and their threat to mobilize military and industrial forces, unless the cabinet resigned, brings Italy face to face with another political crisis. Benito Mussolini, head of the Fascisti, is the man responsible for the rise in power of that body. Early dispatches stated that Vittorio Orlando, premier during the war, or Giovanni Giolitti, also a former premier, might be summoned by King Emanuel to form a new cabinet.

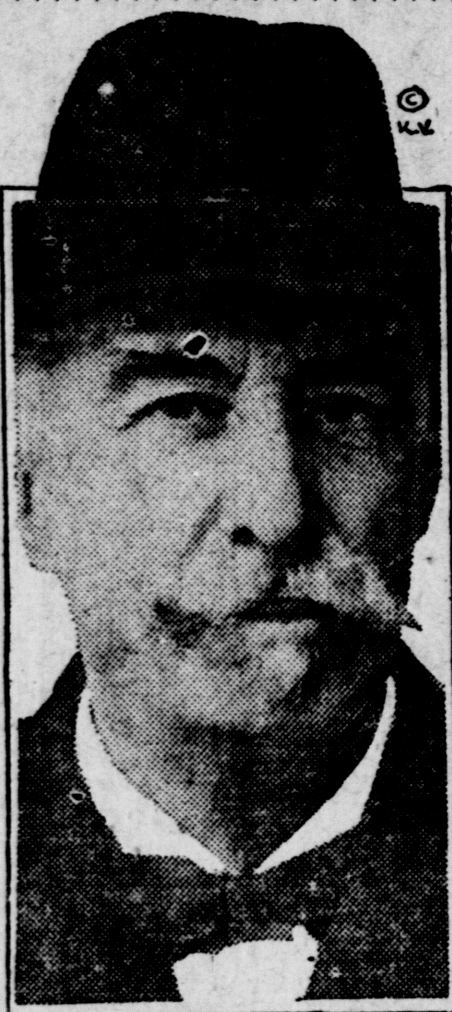

(By the Associated Press)
ROME, Oct. 30.—Benito Mussolini, leader of the Fascisti, called by King Victor Emanuel to form a cabinet, arrived in Rome this afternoon. The crowds thronging the neighborhood of the railroad terminal gave him an enthusiastic welcome.

Mussolini left immediately for the Quirinal where he was given an audience by the king.

The capital was lavishly decorated with flags today but calm was being maintained.

It is believed the new ministry will be consummated in the course of the day.

When the Fascisti leader arrived at Civitavecchia before taking a train for Rome, thousands of Fascisti and citizens welcomed him. In a short address, Mussolini exhorted the crowd to remain calm, and patriotic airs were sung.

The newspaper Asione, Socialista today contained the following:

"We learn that all the members of the communist party were informed last evening that that party is ceasing its operations and all its members are to be released from party discipline."

"It is believed," said the newspaper, "that as a result of the decision the communists deputies will resign their seats."

LIVING WAGES TO BE PEACE BASIS

U. S. Railway Board Says
Its Decisions Will Be Founded on This.

(By the Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Oct. 30.—Majority members of the United States Railroad Labor Board today reaffirmed their assertion that "a just and reasonable" wage should be the basis of their decisions in wage disputes between carriers and their employees.

In their opinion formally handed down last night in the cast of maintenance of way employees the majority members decided "the living wage" demands of the workers would bring financial ruin to the railroads.

The board stressed the difference between the articles "the" and "a" in application to the phrase "living wage". The majority members said they would readily accept proposals of "a living wage" and had done so. The board characterized "the indefinite, elementary thing called 'the living wage'" as a make-shift and a guess and "a bit of mellifluous phraseology, well calculated to deceive the unthinking."

The decision increased the wages of maintenance of way employees two cents an hour over the minimum established July 1 when train men voted a strike and then held it in abeyance pending a rehearing by the board.

REV. DAVIS WILL TAKE PASTORATE OF LOCAL CHURCH

Rev. G. F. Davis of Enid has accepted the call to take the pastorate at the First Christian church, according to an announcement from church authorities today. Rev. Davis delivered a sermon at the church services Sunday and made a favorable impression, it was said. He is just out of college, and although possessed of considerable ability, has not before held a pastorate. He will move with his family, a wife and two daughters, to this city early in November and will be ready to take up his church duties the second Sunday in that month.

He will succeed Rev. H. M. Woods who resigned here several weeks ago to accept a pastorate in Oklahoma City. The call to Rev. Davis to accept the pastorate here was unanimous.

JUDGE GEORGE CRUMP WILL ADDRESS VOTERS TONIGHT

George C. Crump of Holdenville, will address the voters in the interest of the democratic ticket this evening at 7:30. The meeting will be at the Pontotoc building which has been fitted with seats and made comfortable for a large crowd.

Judge Crump is one of the hardest hitters to be found on the stump. He is a man who always speaks his sentiments regardless of what others think and a most effective campaigner.

Three Men Killed as Lumber in Car Slides Upon Them

CASPER, Mont., Oct. 30.—C. E. Lindau of Oklahoma City and two others were crushed to death and two others were injured when a car load of lumber in which they were beating their way on the Burlington freight No. 76, east bound, was converted into a death trap by the sudden shifting of lumber while the train was switching in the yards here last night.

ADA HIGH'S TEAM BADLY BATTERED

But Bright Prospects for Victory Friday Spur
Machine on.

It was a badly battered and somewhat illused squad of football men that reported for duty at the high school gridiron this afternoon. Practically every man on the team was suffering from bruises and cuts received in the battle with Ardmore last Friday, and many had sore and stiff muscles.

Coach Cox is giving his men light work and doing everything possible to get the machine well oiled for the game here Friday afternoon between Ada high and McAlester. Ada defeated McAlester 13 to 7 at McAlester last year and expects to repeat this week.

Molloy is expected to be back at center for a part of the game at least, and Wright is filling in at his old tackle position. He will be ready, however, to go in at center in case Molloy is unable to play the entire game. Baker and Gregg are back at end positions, with young Burkhardt showing up well.

Potts, Carr and Deaver are getting into shape for their work in the half back places this week and Hargis is improving at full back position. Smith is also showing rapid improvement at quarter. Morris is still in a bad condition this week but will be able to play. Willoughby and Nettles also will be in the line. Williams is good at line work and is improving as a utility man.

Winning Streak Broken

Although the defeat at Ardmore will spoil an all-victorious record, the local high school men are eagerly looking forward to the remainder of the season. They have an opportunity to repeat over McAlester and will get a chance for revenge over Atoka, the team that defeated them 25 to 0 early in the 1921 season. Henryetta and Pauls Valley are also on the schedule.

The game Friday will be played on the college gridiron and will be an added feature to the teachers association meeting. Bullfrogs of the college have agreed to co-operate with the Comanches at the high school in a big demonstration. Pep will be at fever heat during the game, it is promised.

ALLEGED COUNTERFEIT SHARKS ARE RELEASED

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—The indictments against Harry Turner, editor of the semi-monthly publication, and Joseph V. Halliday, bankrupt broker, charging them with passing counterfeit gold bond certificates in imitation of those put forth by the French government, were dismissed in federal court today when Judge Paris sustained a demurrer filed by the defense.

SALE OF M.K. & T. LINE POSTPONED AGAIN IS WORD

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—Sale of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad and all its branches, scheduled to begin today, again has been postponed because the interstate commerce commission has not acted on a proposed issuance of new securities, it was announced here today. Sale of the line would terminate formally the receivership in which the road has been since 1915.

Sale of the main line of the company was scheduled for today at Colbert, Okla., of the M. K. & T. of Texas for tomorrow at Denison, Tex., of the Wichita Falls & North Western for Wednesday at Devol, Okla.

The exact dates for the sales probably will not be set until after the commerce commission acts on issuance of the securities, it was amplified.

Standard Oil May Expand Operations Upon New Dividend

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The Standard Oil company of New Jersey which recently proposed the declaration of four hundred per cent dividends, states in its official publication, "The Lamp" that that plan was devised to provide for financing the expansion of its business, company officials believing it better to capitalize its larger surplus with stock dividends than to distribute the surplus and then seek fund in the open market for expansion purposes.

The policy of the company has been to put back into the business a large share of its earnings every year, the article states.

Neighbors Look on While Blaze Kills Aged Man

DENISON, Tex., Oct. 30.—Neighbors were forced to look on powerless to rescue Andy Moody, 90, from fire which consumed his small farm house here today. Farmers who lived near by rushed to the scene when flames burst from the windows of the house. Inside they saw Moody groping about for an exit. Persons who attempted to reach the aged man were driven back by the flames and he was burned to death.

MOTHER DOUBTS GIRL IS GUILTY

Mrs. Pyle Declares Jury
Erred in Decision on Christler's Death.

(By the Associated Press)
HARVE, Mont., Oct. 30.—While Mrs. Christler was on an east bound train accompanying the body of her slain husband, the Rev. Leonard J. Christler, rector of the St. Marks Episcopal church and known as the "bishop of all out of doors," Mrs. Joseph Pyle, mother of Mrs. Marguerite Carleton, whose body was found beside that of Christler, is attempting to prove her daughter did not commit the murder and suicide.

A coroner's jury brought in a verdict yesterday stating that Mrs. Carleton killed the Rev. Christler and then shot herself.

"I do not believe Marguerite did it," said Mrs. Pyle shortly after her arrival in Harve from her home in Butte.

"I shall not be satisfied until I find who owned the gun."

Her reference was to a .38 caliber revolver found in the hand of Mrs. Carleton when the bodies were discovered.

"Marguerite owned and carried for six years a small .22 caliber revolver," continued Mrs. Pyle. "Her weapon been found in her hand instead of the larger one, it might be reasonable to believe that she fired the shots."

MRS. CARLETON SPURNED, IS BELIEF OF BISHOP

HARVE, Mont., Oct. 30.—That Mrs. Carleton deliberately attempted to win the Rev. Leonard J. Christler, rector of St. Marks Episcopal church of this city, from his wife, and that failing she shot the minister and then herself, is the belief of Bishop Frederick Faber, head of the diocese of Montana, according to a statement made by him today.

Relatives Refuse to Discuss Suicide of St. Louis Financier

(By the Associated Press)
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 30.—Relatives of Selwyn C. Edgar, capitalist and former president of the Edgar Zinc company, who was found shot to death at his home here early this morning, were reluctant tonight to discuss the death of the aged man, who, in the opinion of the police, shot himself. Edgar was found by a servant together with two farewell notes which apparently had been penned shortly before his death. One of the notes was addressed to his wife who recently filed a petition for divorce. The other was written to his attorney directing him in the disposition of his possessions. Mr. Edgar was 71 years old.

Presbyterians to Move in Basement of New Building

It is planned to make Friday and Saturday moving days and the congregation will move its effects from the city hay where services have been held for more than a year.

Dr. Whitwell does not intend to stop with the occupancy of the basement, but plans to keep on moving along with the work as fast as funds are available and complete it whenever possible. The idea is to keep something moving all the time and make the most of every advantage.

Staples and Keeting Mentioned in Motion

(By the Associated Press)
DALLAS, Oct. 30.—Motions requesting that S. L. Staples, secretary of state, and W. A. Keeling, attorney general, be cited to appear and show cause why they should not be held in contempt of court was filed in the fifth court of civil appeals here today by W. W. Nelms, chief counsel for C. E. King and others.

The motion is based on the notice to election officials from the secretary of state instructing them to place the name of Earl B. Mayfield as democratic candidate for the senate on the ballot. It is alleged that the action of the state officials was premature and taken before final order of judgement in the court of appeals setting aside the temporary restraining order granted at Corsicana.

The public has about stopped its guessing on how long Lenin and Trotsky and their system will survive in Russia. For a year or two it looked as if the bolshevist regime might collapse at any time, but it still holds on. However, the ways and means of enforcing obedience are vastly different from those employed by Kerensky who was at the head of the government the first few months after the abdication of the czar. Under his rule every fellow did pretty much as he pleased, even in the army the matter of obeying an order given an officer being left to a vote of the men in the ranks. However, when Kerensky was overthrown the army was not long in finding that it had a new master. Strict discipline was restored in course of time and as a consequence a fighting machine built up that has defied every effort to dislodge its masters from power. With a force of this kind to depend on Lenin and Trotsky have had their own way at home and foreign enemies have learned that it does not pay to monkey with it. There is certainly no indication of an early fall of the soviet rule any time soon.

The wall against the importation of goods from foreign countries will hit the American farmer going and coming. In the first place it will force him to pay more for practically everything he buys. This, too, at a time when everybody was beginning to hope for a reduction in the high cost of living. In the next place it will greatly reduce the foreign demand for American farm products for the very simple reason that the foreigners have little money to pay for what they get and must pay in goods of one kind or another. With the foreign market cut off the farmer will have a large surplus on his hands which will force the price down lower than ever. Putting a tariff on farm products was the thinnest kind of bunk, a reflection on the intelligence of the American farmer, for having a surplus for export it follows that he is not going to be hurt by foreign competition whether there is a duty on his products or not. This is another change the people who voted the Republican ticket two years ago got, but it is far from being one that was promised.

Press dispatches announce that a French organization will spend several million dollars in fighting the prohibitory laws of the United States. Evidently the Frenchmen have been gold-bricked by some of these professional propagandists and agitators who make their living through advocating anything they are paid for. While there is no chance on earth of repealing the dry laws of this country these agitators will draw some fat salaries from their French dupes until the Frenchmen find that they are being played for suckers.

This campaign has been one in which charges and counter-charges have been flung back and forth until the average voter is very much at sea. Jack Walton has been the target for a great many of these flings. It is only fair to him as well as to the voter's duty to himself and the state to hear Walton Wednesday and then judge for himself. It is easy to spread reports but this will afford an opportunity to gain first hand information.

The Tulsa World concludes from a poll it has made of the state that Fields will win the governorship by a majority of from 15,000 to 40,000. The day after the election of eight years ago the World announced in big headlines that Fields had beaten Williams by 30,000. Wonder if the World received its information from the same sources on both occasions?

Ambition is a great impelling force which sustains individuals through many ups and downs. Forward and upward is the cry and the one who feels the fire of ambition is carried to greater heights. Few men ever attain the heights to which ambition beckons, but they are stronger from the effort and accomplish more in life.

That the citizens of Ada are thoroughly interested in state affairs is evidenced by the heavy registration in the various precincts. It appears that all records will be broken on November 7, so far as the total vote is concerned.

John Fields insists that he wants a coalition government but has ignored all requests that he name the Democrats he expects to vote for to put this into effect. Couldn't be much coalition unless both parties were represented.

During the thick of a political campaign, it might be well for us to use the Chinese golden rule: "Do not do unto others that which you would not have others do unto you."

Cotton exports have fallen off considerably the past few months. Evidently Europe is still short of ready cash and not able to buy all she needs.

Why Not Oil?

(Oklahoman)
The most fertile field for song and story now existing in this western hemisphere is being overlooked or politely ignored by our modern singers and fiction mongers. The Mid-Continent field offers more of romance and imaginative appeal than half of the old world scenes so tritely cultivated by those who write for the entertainment of the public. Around every well rig clings a story that would thrill the world if only truly and plainly told.

Kipling has told the story of the British army so faithfully that every lad and lassie knows by heart the exploits of Ortheris and Leary and Mulvaney. Cooper has immortalized the Mohawk of the Revolutionary period. Stewart Edward White has portrayed the mysteries of the wilderness. Thomas Nelson Page and Joel Chandler Harris have brought to life the vanished splendors of the Old South. Uncounted volumes tell us of the magic of the seas. But no one has yet essayed to tell the gripping story of the search for oil as Bret Harte and Joaquin Miller have told the story of the maddened thirst for gold in the days of forty-nine.

Here is a field worthy of the cultivation, for every element of restless drama lurks about the derricks of Oklahoma and other oil producing states. It is the story of poverty and affluence, of bitter disappointment and unspeakable joy, of crushing failure and star crowned success. When its story is dosed with determination and marvelous acting it is told it will immortalize the one who has the vision to realize and portray its potentialities.

Each year the ambitious scribbler of America walks beside the Tiber and scale the walls of Switzerland to gain sufficient inspiration for a story that will sell. But there is more of passionate life and human appeal in the oil fields of Oklahoma than sleep beneath the skies of Italy or cling to the gelid walls of the Alps. Here is the story of steel-browed men, who drill into the very heart of Mother Earth and fight the old, old battle for gold in the storms and solitudes of America. Here is the story of mighty cities springing up over night like mushrooms to dominate vast areas of trade. This old world possesses no story that is more thrilling or that has more of human life. Some day the story will reach the world and when that day comes the author of the story will have entered the hall of fame.

Does It Hit You?

(Chickasha Express)
A reader of the Daily Express, who lives in Chicago, sends us a newspaper clipping on which is written: "This hits the sender in a way, but it's good ain't it?" The article is from the Chicago American. We pass it on that you might try it yourself. Here it is:

"You may class yourself as a good citizen merely because you pay your debts, stay at home nights, look after your family and let others alone.

"But if you are really a good citizen you must go farther than that. You have civic duties to perform, civic requirements to meet.

"Giving assistance to those who need help is a part of your duty.

"These same persons may do for the poor, the community, the city and the surrounding country as if they enjoyed it—and no doubt they do get pleasure out of it—but there is your duty which none can do but you.

Your life touches others whether you will or not, and you cannot get away from this responsibility, though you may shirk it.

"To be sure, your home and family come first, but certainly for your city and for those outside your immediate family circle.

"You may grumble because 'the same old gas' is back of every improvement or important undertaking in your city, but—

"Suppose all the men in your home place were as self-centered as you are, what would your city or your community amount to?"

Change Is Needed

(Ponca City News)
The Oklahoma election law is functioning just as badly as any could desire. In Oklahoma City there are three registrars who have not yet been appointed. Perhaps their appointment will come in time for the voters to be registered, perhaps not. The law as it now stands puts the whole matter in the hands of the registrars. If they are honest citizens, then there is usually no trouble about the registration, aside from the carelessness that sometimes accompanies the system.

The law itself is clearly at fault. No punishment is provided for registrars who fail to give voters ample opportunity to register or for those who see fit to leave the city during the registration period and to take the books along. The pay is not adequate for the work required and often the appointees feel that they are doing something for which they get little remuneration and much criticism, and at that they are not far wrong.

A change is needed in fairness to all. The whole matter should be in the hands of the city clerk and the books should be kept open every week during the year, with a possible exception of a period of five or ten days prior to each election. But this is really immaterial. We should make registration easy and urge all to register and to follow this good step up by voting at the election. Citizens who don't vote are a detriment to a democracy.

AMERICA AGAIN INVITED TO GO TO PEACE MEET

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Another request that the United States actively participate with the allied governments in the settlement of European difficulties this time involving the establishment of peace between Turkey and the allies and the status of the Dardanelles and Bosphorus straits was received today by the Washington government.

It was formally presented by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British Ambassador, Count de Chambrun, acting for France in the absence of Ambassador Jusserand, and Charge Rossi, who appeared for Senator Ricci, Italian ambassador, and was followed by an authoritative statement from the state department that this government yesterday had instructed its ambassadors in London, Paris, and Rome to inform those governments that it would not officially participate in the near east conference at Lausanne, Switzerland.

ATTACHMENT ON MEXICAN FUNDS WILL BE VACATED

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The right of attachment issued by the supreme court of New York state against funds of the Mexican government is to be vacated insofar as it relates to property of the New York City consulate, it was said today at the state department.

An all-star cast will be seen in the new Irving Cummings production, "Flesh and Blood," which will be shown at the American theatre for two days beginning Thursday.

A list of their names vouches for one of the best acted pictures that has been seen at the American in some time. Lon Chaney, the man with a thousand faces, as an escaped convict who breaks jail to be near his family and to mete out vengeance upon his enemy; Edith Roberts as his daughter, who is in love with the rich man's son, played by Jack Mulhall. Other well known players in the cast are Ralph Lewis and Noah Beery.

The picture enables Mr. Chaney to demonstrate his wonderful sense of characterism. Remember his in "The Penalty?" In "Flesh and Blood" he portrays vividly and accurately the crippled beggar, forced to take to crutches to avoid arrest. How he triumphs over his base impulses—how he finds spiritual uplift in his daughter's happiness is told in five reels of most absorbing drama—a drama with a heart and soul.

All of the incidents in the story are said to have been founded on actual happenings that have come to the attention of Louis Duryea Lighton, while he was engaged in doing social service work in several large cities.

LESS MEAT IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a glass of Salts if your Back hurts or Bladder troubles you.

No man or woman who eats too much meat can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Big meat eating may develop uric acid, which excites the kidneys; they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poison from the blood; then we get sick. Rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleepiness and urinary disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys, or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jod Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine. This famous salts is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice (combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus often ending bladder weakness.

Jod Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby often avoiding serious kidney complications. (Adv.)

Resources of State Banks Decrease for Past Three Months

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 26.—Total resources and liabilities of the state banks of Oklahoma have decreased $22,185,741.90 since June 30, according to a compilation of reports made at the call of the state bank commissioner as of date Sept. 15. On that day resources and liabilities amounted to $99,174,420.20.

"The greater part of this reduction came in the first fifteen days of September, after the crop movement set in," said Roy Walcott, state bank commissioner. "I am certain that this movement, which is indicative of an improvement in the condition of the banks, has gathered weight since the date of the call and that there has been an even greater reduction since."

According to the tabulation, loans and discounts were reduced by $2,303,780.53, to $64,930,425.28. Bills of exchange more than doubled in volume, from $712,593.01 to $1,750,335.17.

Undivided profits showed an increase of $1,638.47 to $597,063.25. Individual and time deposits were increased to $74,846,253.20, a gain of $262,802.60. Rediscouunts fell $1,368,270.24 to $7,253,490.87, while bills payable were reduced in volume by $262,255.64 to $1,514,468.47.

Reporting banks numbered 478, a loss of eight.

A Model of Smartness In Serge and Foulard

WOMAN'S INSTITUTE Fashion Service

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

EVEN the most fastidious of Fashion's youthful followers will not object to wearing a made-over frock when it evidences so much smartness as this little model of serge and foulard. This is an especially desirable make-over style as both materials are cut in comparatively small sections and thus simplify the problem of cutting out the dress.

The manner in which the joining line of the skirt portion of the serge to the foulard is arranged provides a very unusual and pleasing note, but if time is at a premium a straight joining might be used without marring the balance of the design.

A point of special interest in this design is the raglan sleeve, which is given special emphasis by being of contrasting material. This is lengthened by a lower portion developed in peasant fashion with the fullness held in a wrist-band of the serge.

A band of serge likewise trims the edge of the collar which is in convertible fashion — for cool weather wear a provision of merit.

This Sports Dress When Knickers Are Not Worn

WOMAN'S INSTITUTE Fashion Service

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

SOMETHING one should like to ask a "Hindu Man" is how soon "knickers" will replace the simple sports dress for golf. I am sure if he were a "Seer" of fashions, he would say, "Never, completely, but within another year they will be running 50-50."

The sports dress illustrated is of castor color Kasha cloth ornamented with pearl buttons of harmonizing color and bound with dull green braid.

The definite tendency for fall in sleeves—close-fitting at the wrist—is evident here. The shorter waist-line effect, which is also a fall note, is acquired by the double belt.

Extra fullness is allowed and the pocket made possible through the interesting side line of the skirt. The hat is castor color felt with green braid binding and possesses sufficient simplicity and jauntyness to match well with the sports dress.

Substitute Bill to Curb Board Powers on Tariff Measure

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Broad powers over tariff duties or proposals for the present would be curtailed under a substitute for the so-called flexible-tariff provision of the pending bill recommended to the senate today by the finance committee majority.

The principal modification proposed would prevent a transfer from the duties list to the free list or from the free list to the dutiable list and would prohibit the raising of duties beyond any maximum fixed in the bill.

HUGO—A complete financial estimate of the year's business will be compiled by officials of the Southern Oklahoma Growers' exchange by next Saturday F. C. Claypool stated today.

BOWMANS LEAVE TODAY FOR NEW ARKANSAS HOME

F. E. Bowman and family and mother of Mrs. Bowman, Mrs. McFarland, left today for Rogers, Arkansas, where they will make their home. This takes out of Ada one of the best known families of the city.

Mr. Bowman came here more than a dozen years ago as manager of the Ada Electric & Gas Company. He retained this place until approximately two years ago when he sold his interest and has been out of business since that time. About a year ago he purchased a fruit farm near Rogers, Arkansas, and has now gone there to make his home.

Mr. Bowman was a city booster, a church worker and active in all worthy endeavors. Mrs. Bowman was well known, though her social life was confined mostly to church work and similar lines of endeavor. Mrs. McFarland for the time she was here was one of the most loved members of the Baptist Sunday school.

Others from Ada have gone to the Ozarks. O. N. Walker, until a few months ago secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, moved several weeks ago and is now living with Mrs. Walker and Jack, on a suburban farm. Harvey Faust, Jr., is with the Bowmans and probably will remain there and attend the University of Arkansas. George Bowman expects to enter the same institution in September.

Mark Twain's "Strained Relations." A very gentle spoken woman called on Mark Twain (one day in his later years) and promised she would stay but a moment and say no more than a few words if only she might sit face to face with the great man. When she rose to go she said in a voice of deepest reverence: "May I kiss your hand?" Then as she went out she said: "How God must love you!" "I hope so," he said softly; but after she had gone he could not help saying, in a quaint, half-pathetic voice: "I guess she hasn't heard of our strained relations."—Mark Twain: A Biography.

COULD HARDLY STAND AT TIMES

Hips, Back and Legs Would Have That Tired Ache

Everett, Washington.—"For several years I have had trouble with the lowest part of my back and my hips and my legs would ache with that tired ache. I could hardly stand on my feet at times. I was always able to do my work although I did not feel good. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound advertised and having heard several praise it I decided to try it. I feel first-rate at the present time. It has done wonders for me and I keep it in the house right along. I always recommend it to others who are sick and ailing."—Mrs. J. M. SIBERT, 4033 High St., Everett, Washington.

To do any kind of work, or to play for that matter, is next to impossible if you are suffering from some form of female trouble. It may cause your back or your legs to ache, it may make you nervous and irritable. You may be able to keep up and around, but you do not feel good. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women. It is especially adapted to relieve the cause of the trouble and then these annoying pains, aches and "no good" feelings disappear. It has done this for many, many women; why not give it a fair trial—now.

"THE TRAP" VITAL TALE OF CANADIAN WOODS

"The Trap," a strong story of the North woods, the Universal-Jewel attraction starring Lon Chaney which comes to the McSwain theatre on Saturday is unique in having one of the most remarkable casts of any recent production. In addition to this, Robert Thornby, who is noted for the excellence of all his productions, directed this film masterpiece.

Lon Chaney, the star, gained his enviable reputation as an actor in "The Miracle Man," which he followed closely with "The Penalty," still sustaining a reputation for creating human characterizations in decidedly a distinctive manner. Then came "Outside the Law," where he was seen in support of Priscilla Dean. It was as a result of his work in that picture that Universal decided to star him. In the current production Chaney had unusual opportunities for living up to his reputation as "the man of a thousand faces." He made the most of them.

Spottiswoode Aitken, well known character man; Dagmah Godowsky—the Russian actress and daughter of Leopold Godowsky, world famous pianist; Alan Hale, Herbert Standing, Frank Campeau, Irene Rich and five year old Stanley Goethals, handled the chief supporting roles in a manner that leaves nothing to be desired. The story of "The Trap" was written by Lucien Hubbard, scenario editor of Universal, in collaboration with the star and Irving G. Thalberg, director-general of the producing company.

DEMOCRATS WILL SWEEP OKLAHOMA

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 29.—The Democratic ticket this year will carry in every congressional district in Oklahoma even including the eighth was the prediction made today by Ed M. Seamans, state chairman, in his first pre-election prediction of the campaign.

"The eighth district has been Republican since statehood and enjoys the distinction by reason of being represented by the illustrious Manuel Herrick of whom every republican in the state is so proud," Seamans said, "nevertheless this year every report indicates it will give a democratic majority. Naturally the banner democratic majority is expected from the third district. Represented by Charles Carter, this district being composed of democratic counties almost wholly and it is confidently expected that it will give a majority of not less than twenty thousand to the state ticket. The first, second, fourth and sixth which went into republican ranks in the landslide two years ago will be back in the fold stronger than ever."

Music
"The charm of music in one's home circle depends, no doubt, on the members composing that circle, on their individual temperaments and abilities. Apart from gifts of solo playing and singing, there are, for moderate performers, the very real pleasure of duet and concert work of all kinds. The formation of glee parties, meeting from house to house on fixed evenings every week, is to be recommended as a practical method of tasting the sweets of part singing, an art long practiced in student circles by the German people.

Surroundings have unquestionably much to do with the enjoyment of music. Possibly the keenest delight of all is felt by one who, brought up in unmusical environments, gradually makes for himself an atmosphere of sweet sounds, eventually drawing others unto the same enchantment. The greatest musical enthusiasts appear to come from that class which, having encountered many obstacles in winning a position in the world of music, can enter into, and feel for the difficulties in the way of struggling professional musicians.

Assuredly in this as in all other domains of research, the ignorance may long be a stumbling block, knowledge is power. A clear understanding of the aims and possibilities of music, of means for getting practically acquainted with its various departments and branches, is the first desideratum. We would therefore appeal not only to those already acquainted with the practice of music, but also to the vast circle of listeners to music. These should learn what is implied in the work of true creative and uplift the minds and lives of all who listen well. The hearing ear and seeing eye are alike necessary to the arts that appeal to them respectively."

Music Clubs to Organize Monday, November 6.

Piano students studying with Mrs. W. A. Hill will meet on Monday, November 6 for the organization of music clubs for this season. These clubs are to meet once each month.

Believing the students need the entire lesson period for the execution of the assigned lesson, Mrs. Hill has grouped her students according to age and advancement. The groups will study theory, harmony and musical history. Beginners will answer roll call with the name of some composer. Musical games which furnish drill in the A. B. C.'s of music will precede the program which will include solos, duets and trios played by the pupils.

Intermediate students will spend the hour with harmony and history of music. Eminent musicians of the present will be discussed during the social hour. Music of the Greeks is to be the history topic for the first meeting.

To gain confidence, ease among the pupils and self control when playing, each senior student will be required to give a short lecture on the number which she is to render. Round-table discussion will be based on "The Evolution of the Piano-forte." The biography of J. S. Bach will be given, after which each student will render a selection from Bach in addition to a number of her own selection.

Miss Edith Gragg has been a guest of her sister, Mrs. H. W. Wells, over the week-end. She will return to her home in Tulsa Tuesday afternoon.

RIVALS OPENING
SCRAP FOR RING

Contest Will Wage Hot as Many Rivals Meet at Ada Ceremonial.

Thrilling battles upon the blazing sands of Pontotoc county's desert are promised when at least four candidates, one from Ada, one from Allen, one from Magill and probably one from Coalgate, battle for the Shrine ring during the ceremonial to be held here November 24 by India temple, Oklahoma City, and Bedouin temple, Muskogee.

Probably more intense than all others will be the contest between John Butcher of Allen and H. B. Roach, Ada. Rumblings of the battle already are echoing throughout the Ada oasis. When the two temple caravans arrive it will come to a head.

First skirmishes in the scrap are recorded in an exchange of letters this week. Gus Delaney, Butcher's campaign manager, has taunted Roach—and Ada's candidate answered. Following are the salies:

Mr. H. B. Roach,
Ada, Oklahoma.

Dear Sir and Brother:
I have just finished reading your announcement in the Ada Evening News that you were a candidate for the Shrine ring which will be awarded at Ada on November 24.

It is noted that you are six feet two in height, free from limb knots and lightning blemishes, but the announcement does not say a word about wind-shakes. I presume you are full of 'em. You may think you are a sturdy oak but before you are through with this campaign, I have no hesitancy in telling you that you will be a dry withered branch whose once proud boughs will drag in shame and humiliation, will drag in shame and humiliation.

Really, when we announced Mr. Butcher as a candidate, we felt that in view of the fact that Sherwood Hill had defeated the writer for the ring and the further fact that when Walter Wray ran for the ring at Sulphur, I forgot that Ada had voted against me as a unit and lined up for Brother Wray and helped put him over, that the Ada Shriners would reciprocate and help out with Mr. Butcher's campaign. I am beginning to believe otherwise now. You fellows cuss because Pontotoc county does not stand as a unit on anything and there is no one to blame but yourselves, for the only way that Pontotoc county can stand as a unit is for all the good things to gaviate to the county seat.

Now Brother Roach, you may say that your fighting weight is a ton, and that your actual avirduis is 265 pounds, and I will not deny the latter part of this statement, for it is a well known fact that bone is heavier than brain. My candidate is small in physical stature, but ponderous in brain power; he is as gentle as a woman until aroused and then is as fierce as a raging lion. In fact it is my candid opinion that Brother Butcher will whittle you down to about his size and then just simply assimilate you. Butcher is also large in principle and had your announcement appeared first, I am certain that he would have stifled his selfish ambitions and done what he could for you.

In conclusion let me advise you to withdraw while there is a chance for you to do so gracefully, for this is one time you have started rabbit hunting when you're mighty sure to catch a fierce old bear.

Fraternally yours,
W. A. Delaney, Jr.
Campaign manager for

Jno. E. Butcher.

And Roach Answers
Hon. W. A. Delaney,
Allen, Oklahoma.

My Dear Bro. Delaney:
I am just in receipt of your much appreciated letter of 24 ins. I haste to reply as I see you are soaring to such a giddy height with your most worthy client and candidate for the ring that is to be given away Nov. 24 by the Nobles of the Shrine. I fear your gas will become exhausted about the time you reach the peak of your highest altitude and your pieces on the hot found smashed to some lonely desert where the fowls of the air and the beast of the fields will devour him.

Your onslaught against me and my candidacy for the ring reminds me of one of Aesop's fables of the ass that put on the lion's skin and went out to frighten the rest of the beasts of the field, but alas when he began to roar it was the voice of an ass.

His owner heard him roaring and went out and placed a cable tow around his neck and, leading him away, turned him into a dry pasture, there to meditate on his folly.

So, on, on ye Roman Gladiators, to the fight and lay on McDuff and damned be he who first says enough.

Fraternally yours,
H. B. Roach.

TIGER SQUAD IS YET UNDAUNTED

East Central Gridsters Face Edmond Battle With Optimism.

Back from their first unsuccessful road trip, East Central Tigers are this week starting another practice grind in preparation for the trip next Friday to Edmond where they will go into the hardest game of the year with Edmond Teachers college.

Coach M. Z. Thompson said today he was not disappointed with the showing at Weatherford last Saturday. He said circumstances were against him in this game and the one sided score was due partly to climatic conditions.

Thomas, who was back in the game, showed up well. Sheppard who starred in the game here two weeks ago, was missed. He is unable to play with the team any more this year. Kelly, Cunningham, McCoy, Vernon and Montgomery were in the back field.

The fact that the Tigers held Weatherford to a 39 to 0 score in the face of odds is taken to mean that the team is getting together better now than at the first of the year. Although it is generally conceded that Tigers have no chance to win over Edmond it is believed that by improving the team work this week they will hold the husky Central squad to a low score.

After the Edmond game, Thompson hopes to begin an onslaught against the other teams on his schedule that will leave his record at the end of the season with a twice as many victories as defeats. He has already won as many games as any college team here in years. He is looking forward to the perfection of a machine that will prove a formidable foe in the future.

Carver College of Oklahoma City will play on the home gridiron in two weeks. Oklahoma school for the Deaf will be here after that and then comes Oklahoma School of Mines at Wilburton. Durant Teachers College of Durant will play the closing game for Ada.

ROMAN BACHANAL IN "MANSLAUGHTER"

In spite of the fact that there were no photographers to record the dress and customs of the masses during the years of the decadence of the Roman empire, Cecil B. DeMille has faithfully reproduced a scene of the barbarian invasion of Rome in his latest Paramount picture, "Manslaughter", which is being enthusiastically received all over the country.

The episode alluded to is a brief historical outback, but it depicts vividly the arrival of Alaric's hordes in the Eternal City.

Leatrice Joy, who is one of the principals of the modern portion of the story, is the hostess at a lavishly beautiful Roman banquet which is interrupted by Thomas Meighan in the role of the leader of the Goths, Lois Wilson, John Milner and Casson Ferguson are the other members of the notable cast appearing in this sequence.

The story deals with a young American girl of wealth who is a speed maniac and who is the cause of the death of a motor policeman. The district attorney who prosecutes her, loves her, but he believes that the only way to save her from herself is to punish her. She goes to prison and when he calls upon her, she treats him with contempt. He dissipates and later when the girl is released, she is the means of reforming him. The two are united after many thrilling incidents transpire.

The cast is practically all star and embraces many of the best known players of the Paramount Stock Company. The picture, which will be the attraction at the McSwain today is one of the finest Cecil B. DeMille creations and it should prove a record breaker at that house.

STATE UNIVERSITY HAS RAPID GROWTH

Showing the growth of the University of Oklahoma graphically by enrollment and pictorially. Top picture—University campus as it looks from the east today. Middle picture, second building of the university erected in 1903, burned 1907; lower picture, first building of the university erected in 1892, burned 1902.

NORMAN, Oct. 29.—(Special)—From the day Marion Donahue, the first student enrolled in the University of Oklahoma in the fall of 1892, entered school until today is but a step of thirty years in time yet it signifies a change in the Southern institution from an enrollment of 119 students in 1892 to a grand total of 5,232 for the school year 1921-22, according to figures given out by Dean Roy Gittinger, registrar of the university.

The residence enrollment for the first semester of the present school year reached 3,345 Wednesday, October 18, with virtually all who will be in school this semester already enrolled. This figure surpasses that of 1921 for the fall semester which set a new record at 3,013.

When Donahue enrolled in the university, the entire establishment was confined to one building out in the country from the city of Norman, today the university represents more than $2,000,000 invested in buildings alone and the city of Norman extends beyond and envelops the university campus.

From that lone building of thirty years ago, stands today twelve buildings, an athletic field and a campus which is probably the most beautiful bit of landscape gardening in the state. The university buildings are the Administration building, Education building, Science Hall, Chemistry building or DeBarr Hall, Fine Arts and auditorium building, Library, Geology building, Law or Monnet Hall, Engineering building, Women's building, Armory and Gymnasium.

The first 20 years of the university's growth were slow, but steadily upward. The 119 students enrolled in the first year grew to 295 in 1900 and in 1905 there were 475 students, in 1920 this was almost doubled with 870.

Dr. Stratton D. Brooks was appointed president of the university in 1912 and that date marks the upward enrollment growth that doubled and redoubled the size of the institution several times in ten years. From 876 students in 1912, a gain of six over 1910, the following year 1912, the total figures show an increase of 501 or a total of 1,377 students. The next eight years show a regular increase: 1917-18 being the least on account of the war. The enrollment in 1916 stood at 2,516 and in 1917 gained 52 but in 1918 the figures show up to 3,256 which was in turn almost doubled in 1922 with a total of 5,232.

The first graduation class of the university granted but two degrees and these in pharmacy. In 1900, thirteen degrees were granted and in 1910 the class numbered 78. When Dr. Brooks came to the university in 1912, the graduating class numbered 123 and in 1922, ten years later, degrees were granted to 518 students.

Some Schools Divided

Two colleges, the college of Engineering composed of several schools and the college of fine arts and sciences also composed of several schools, five separate schools and several subordinate schools and departments make up the university. The school of law, school of medicine, school of pharmacy, school of education, and school of fine arts are the separate schools while the school of journalism, school of public and private business, school of social service, various schools of engineering are subordinate schools.

More than 250 faculty members are required to handle the classroom and administrative work of the university.

This fall there are 1,355 freshmen, 735 sophomores, 601 juniors and 505 seniors in the four classes of school contains 65 names.

Some of the most interesting pages are those which sound like dime novels of boyhood days, where in the war between the Denver and Rio Grande and the Santa Fe Railroads in 1878-80, for the possession of the Royal George, a key in railroad routes through the mountains, is graphically described. This was a real war too, for much blood was shed, many thousands of dollars of property destroyed, and many legal words flung about courthouses before the matter was finally settled. As a result, both sides won, apparently, for while the Denver and Rio Grande won possession of the gorge, it lost its right of extending its lines to the southward.

As a result, both sides won, apparently, for while the Denver and Rio Grande won possession of the gorge, it lost its right of extending its lines to the southward.

Some of the most interesting pages are those which sound like dime novels of boyhood days, where in the war between the Denver and Rio Grande and the Santa Fe Railroads in 1878-80, for the possession of the Royal George, a key in railroad routes through the mountains, is graphically described. This was a real war too, for much blood was shed, many thousands of dollars of property destroyed, and many legal words flung about courthouses before the matter was finally settled. As a result, both sides won, apparently, for while the Denver and Rio Grande won possession of the gorge, it lost its right of extending its lines to the southward.

Whole History of Nation Traced In Federal Guide for Autoists

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Although it is not generally known that Uncle Sam is in the guide book business, one of the most interesting guides to motorist routes throughout the "Golden West," is that recently published by the U. S. Geological Survey.

The great variety of mountain scenery to be found in Colorado and the panoramas of the plateaus and deserts of Utah, is the theme of the latest addition to the series which the Geological Survey has been publishing at intervals since 1915. Specifically, the route described follows that of the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad from Denver to Salt Lake City.

The guide book, which may be obtained at the department for one dollar, not only treats of the scenery, resources and the human activities of the region traversed, but explains the forms of the mountain plains and canyons along the route, how they have been developed by the ancient terrestrial forces. It describes the rock strata which underlie the country and which have controlled the forms of the landscape. Many of the beds of these rocks are most interesting, for they contain the remains of strange animals, now extinct, that roamed the country ages ago.

The skeletons of great monsters have been unearthed in many places along the route, and even their tracks, preserved in sandstone, have been found.

Metal in Rocks

The rocks also contain the metallic ores that have made Colorado and Utah famous the world over and added untold millions of dollars to the country's wealth. The guidebook gives interesting descriptions of these rocks and precious minerals, described by mineralogists and geologists. The history of the mining districts passed along the route forms one of the most fascinating and adventurous chapters in the country's own history. The most interesting of the old camps described is possibly Leadville, where great wealth in lead, silver, gold and zinc was produced.

The changes that the wizard water has accomplished, with the aid of the government's reclamation and irrigation service are also seen in the Utah deserts, and described in the tourist's book. The work of the Forest Service in conserving the country's great timber preserves is also to be seen along the route and is easier to be enjoyed through the descriptions in the book.

Throng of Refugees Face Starvation on Highways of Thrace

(By the Associated Press)

DEDEAGATH, Thrace, Oct. 30.—Exhausted by their flight to Macedonia, swarms of refugees who crowd the country roads face starvation and disaster. Thousands will perish in the next few weeks, it seems certain.

Scarlet fever broke out today and cholera and typhoid threatened because of the utter lack of sanitation.

There is no milk for some of the babies. At Drama and Kavala the roads are choked with weary refugees who face starvation because they have no mills to grind their wheat.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Merrill

Considerable interest is being shown in the solution of the number puzzle submitted a few days ago, but so far no one has submitted a correct solution. Several used some figures twice which is not admissible, and one began by multiplying thus: 8x9 equal 72 and then adding other numbers combining the rest of the ten figures. Addition is the only process, admissible. If it can be made by two additions, all right, only remember that no figure must be used more than once.

Oklahoma Crop Notes.

Oklahoma City, Oct. 28, 1922.
Letters from all over the cotton district from all classes of men interested in the growing of the crop seem to agree that fall and winter clean-up of cotton fields and hibernating places of the weevil constitute one of the most effective methods of weevil control. The earlier the clean-up is practiced in the fall the more effective the results will be.

Killing cotton growth early prevents new weevils breeding and permits only the older ones to enter hibernation. Very few of these older weevils have sufficient vitality to pass the winter successfully. Destroy the cotton growth just as early as it is practical to do so.

In many cases the farmers in the cotton district who do not grow cotton are hard to get interested in a clean up campaign of this kind; this is often responsible for a fresh outbreak the following spring. A farmer cannot prevent weevils coming to his cotton in the spring that another person has wintered.

Many weevils will survive the winter in fields where cotton stalks, together with grass, weeds and other refuse material offering shelter are allowed to remain. Great numbers successfully pass the winter in dead grass along fences, ditches and other waste places.

Get these facts! Weevil infestation in spring starts from the few weevils that pass the winter. The weevils developing late in the fall are the ones most likely to survive the winter. Previous to the first killing frosts, it can live for only about six days without food. The weevil can live for several months without food while hibernating and inactive. It does not become inactive until the first killing frosts. He breeds only in the bolls and squares and eats only cotton.

We note that community clean up campaigns have started all over the state and in some counties the work has been well organized. One county has placed a man in charge of this work who is devoting his entire time in organizing and getting the work started.

This is probably the biggest and hardest undertaking the farmers have ever had to cope with, and if we are ever successful it will only be through close co-operation. It is to the interest of everyone living in the cotton belt to get behind this move. The bankers, ginners, merchants and newspapers have a better chance to perfect organizations of this kind than anyone. Letters to all of your customers is one way of getting things started. Any system of organization is a step in the right direction.

If the cotton districts are to prosper they must raise cotton, and if this clean up campaign is to be a success it is up to everyone interested in cotton. I am sure that the communities who do put on an extensive campaign and then follow this by early preparation of the seed bed, using an early variety of seed and a system of extensive cultivation during the growing season, that they will notice their farmers making more trips to the gin during picking season.

Let's all get together and organize!

Weekly Produce Bulletin.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—A shortage in the west of special cars used to transport live poultry has had a tendency to shorten arrivals in the central and eastern markets. The lighter receipts have had a steady effect on market prices.

A good demand exists for dressed poultry, with some surplus over current requirements which is being placed in storage for future use.

The make of butter is about normal for this season and markets, after a little weakness in the middle of the week, are closing on a firmer basis. Higher prices are generally being paid for butterfat throughout the producing sections.

Not enough care and attention are being given to the quality of cream delivered to creameries, resulting in a considerable proportion of butter reaching the market that will not grade as high as it should. Better care and more frequent deliveries of cream will enable manufacturers to produce more top grade butter, and would have a tendency to raise the price of butterfat.

Production of eggs is at a low ebb and prices for fine stock have advanced during the week.

There is still a surplus of storage eggs to be marketed and withdrawals have not been quite as heavy as expected. A continued increased consumption of eggs everywhere is necessary to clear present stocks satisfactorily.

Check the Chinch Bug.

By W. E. Jackson
Assistant Entomologist, A. and M. College.
The chinch bug has been moving into winter quarters for several days now. Those that survive the winter weather and escape destruction through control measures will emerge in the spring to attack wheat, oats and other cereal crops. The overwintering adults will deposit eggs in wheat fields about May 1 which marks the beginning of the young hatching from these of the spring brood of chinch bugs. Eggs feed and develop most on small grain, reaching maturity soon after the grain is harvested. When the small grain is harvested the chinch bugs move over to corn fields and here a second or summer brood is produced. The second brood feeds mainly on corn but may infest such crops as timothy.

The crops usually attacked by the chinch bug are all the cereals, corn, wheat, oats, rye, barley and all the forage crops—timothy, blue grass, red top, millet, etc. Clover, alfalfa, cowpeas, cotton and peanuts are never injured by chinch bugs.

Experience as well as experimentation has shown that the chinch bug can be more easily, successfully, and economically fought during late fall and early winter. At the approach of winter, the bugs leave off feeding and collect about the base of corn and early stalks and in bunch grass, in rubbish, leaves, fence rows, along creek banks, under bark of logs and trees.

In the early fall while grass and weeds are dry is the best time for destroying chinch bugs. With the usual protection afforded by bunch grass, the chinch bug survives the average Oklahoma winter very well. So strike a fatal blow at Mr. Chinch Bug, burn his shelter. This burning is one job that can not be delayed until a rainy day. If you wish to do the work thoroughly, select a dry, calm day.

Many more of the bugs will be destroyed if burning is done in the fall; but if the fire is withheld until spring, a very large percent will survive and be ready to infest the wheat in spring. Each pair of bugs wintered means 400 to 500 more bugs three to five weeks after egg laying is started.

Burn the grass and weeds from fence, rows creek banks, turn rows and roadsides. Plow all fields as early in the fall as possible and the injury from chinch bugs as well as damage due to other insects will be largely eliminated.

FORUM SOCIETY IS REORGANIZED AT ADA COLLEGE

After having been in the back ground for many months, the Forum Debating Society was reorganized and put on, the map again at East Central college last week when 38 old members and several new ones assembled at the administration building and perfected a new body with new officers and a new constitution.

The organization has as its chief purpose the development of speaking talents in the college. Debating teams will be selected from among the members. Readings, discourses of all kinds, singing and formal debating will be included in work of the society.

After disposing of regular business, which included the election of officers and hearing committee reports, an impromptu program was rendered. Other interesting programs are being planned.

Instructors are outlining plans by which congresses, parliaments, cabinets and state legislatures may be organized to give students a clear meaning of their inside workings.

T. K. Treadwell was elected president; Earl Armstrong vice-president; Dewey Gilmore secretary-treasurer; Ben Hatcher, sergeant at arms; Dale Boren, reporter, John Zimmerman critic; M. B. Molloy and John Zimmerman advisors.

Miss Blanche McMinn, reporting for the name committee, proposed the old name of "Forum Debating Society" and it was accepted. Constitutional committee headed by Earl Armstrong, presented a temporary constitution and a program committee headed by Dewey Gilmore was put into operation.

As a feature of the impromptu program, a reading in Dutch was rendered by T. H. Miller.

Baptists Have Good Day
The First Baptist church experienced a good day yesterday. They started with 506 in Sunday school and a large congregation at the morning preaching hour. The pastor preached on the subject, "The Four Aces of the Great Commission." There were two additions to the church at the close of the service.

The four B. Y. P. U's were well attended.

At the evening hour the building was taxed to capacity, with chairs in the aisles, to hear the pastor's sermon on "The Judgment Day."

At the close of the service, three were baptized.

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS COUPE

The approach of winter emphasizes the all-year usefulness of the car.

Wind and sleet beat in vain against the weather-stripped doors and windows. A floor radiator keeps the interior as warm as a room. The windows are readily adjusted for ventilation.

Underlying these seasonal comforts, is the satisfaction owners feel in the car's exceptional sturdiness.

The body proper is a hand-welded steel unit. It is now generally known that this novel construction has made possible Dodge Brothers enamel finish (instead of paint) which is baked at high temperature on the surface of the steel.

The trimness and grace of the body lines are enhanced by a non-rumble fabric top and rear quarters fashioned in the present attractive mode.

Genuine Spanish blue leather upholstery, wide snug-fitting doors and roomy luggage quarters heighten the impression you instantly get of the car's distinctive fitness for service, either business or social.
